El Dorado Evacuated By Bomb Scare

The 1800 students at El Dorado High School, many not knowing the drama that was unfolding, were dismissed summarily after 1 p.m. Monday following a bomb threat that had previously reached the office of the Orange County Sheriff.

The students were warned not to linger on campus but to leave immediately, with many gatherings across the street to watch the proceedings.

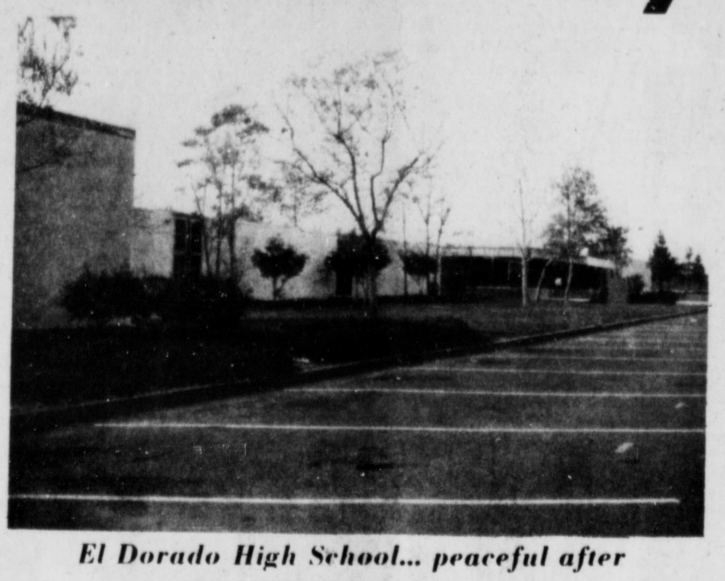
The decision to evacuate was made by principal Jerry Jertberg, after consultation with Placentia Unified School District Superintendent of Schools John Tynes, following a series of events which led school authorities to believe that the circumstances might not be "just another crank call."

The first warning of a potential bomb on the 40-acre campus, came when an informant from the Orange County Probation Department called the Orange County Sheriff's office to report the incident of a male caller with a bomb threat against the five-story Probation Headquarters, which is in the city of Orange. Placentia Police report that that facility also was evacuated Monday.

The caller also made threats against six other addresses, stating that explosive devices had been placed in them. In checking these out the Sheriff's Office discovered that one was El Dorado High School in Placentia.

The Sheriff's Department alerted police in three cities of potential hazard, Placentia, Fullerton and Anaheim.

Placentia Police were immediately dispatched to the El Dorado campus where they made a cursory search, according to statements by Agent Bill Couch, which was negative. "But it would take two days to really search the school completely," Agent Couch pointed out, "by the time you went through every room, every space, every locker."



El Dorado High School... peaceful after the bombing threat

El Dorado Principal Jerry Jertberg said Tuesday a great deal of credit should be accorded the 1800 students, who were told only that the situation was an emergency.

"The whole campus was cleared within 10 minutes," he reported.

Jertberg had previously addressed students over the public address system, explaining that it was an emergency situation.

It was the first time that the campus had ever been closed down for such a reason, Jertberg explained, in expressing his extreme pride in the way the students behaved.

The principal said that schools in the district receive repeated bomb threats and that El Dorado had had two others this year, but those did not appear to contain the validity with which this threat was viewed.

Couch lauded Jertberg's decision to release the students. "It took courage to let 1800 kids out on the street early," he assessed.

The Police Agent explained that the threat was extended to any time through six in the evening and no one was sure "there wasn't a bomb there."

June Keir, Secretary to the Principal at the school said that she was at lunch off campus when the principal made his decision to announce the early dismissal.

"I was going back into the building to finish up some work that I had to do," Miss Keir recalls, "and the principal told me that I should leave because the threat extended through 6 p.m.".

Agent Couch said that he and two Police Officers, Joe Rodarte and Kim Redifer made the search at the school.

The report of the threat first reached the sheriff's office at 12:13

Key Ranch Eyed As Historic Place

The George Key Ranch in Placentia, near Placentia Avenue and Bastanchury Road is making progress in its establishment as a public showplace and Thursday will seek recognition as a nominee for the National Register of Historic Places.

The homestead Key house, surrounded by orange groves, will be placed in nomination, along with 15 other state sites, four state Historical Landmarks and 16 Points of Historical Interest. The nomination will be considered by the State Historical Resources Commission at its meeting in the San Bernardino County Museum in Redlands.

The Key Ranch is the only site in Orange County under consideration.

James Doyle, Assistant Executive Secretary to the Committee, said the National Register officially recognizes the historical, archeological or cultural significance of a building or site and makes it eligible for consideration for funding under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966. Only 330 buildings and sites are now listed.

Florence Robinson In Hospital

Florence Robinson, veteran newswoman of this area, for whom the city's Florence Robinson Showmobile is named, is in satisfactory condition at Placentia-Linda Hospital, the facility reported this week.

Mrs. Robinson, who previously had suffered a heart attack and recovered, is able to have visitors, the hospital stated.

Churches Plan Sunrise Service

The City of Placentia Community Easter Sunrise Service, will be held this year on Sunday, March 30 at 6:30 a.m. in Kraemer Memorial Park.

The services will be under the supervision of the Ministerial Association of Placentia. Chairman for the annual event is Rev. David Brostrom. Plans will be announced at a later date, Rev. Brostrom said.

THE ATTRACTIVE YOUNG LADIES around the neighborhood this week and until March 9, with order blanks in hand, are Placentia's Girl Scouts on their annual Cookie Sale. The orders from the neighborhood for any of six kinds of cookies at $1.25 a box, provide the necessary funds to keep Girl Scout camps maintained and in operation. Brookhaven Elementary School students, members of Troop 1095, making their rounds on bicycle are Patricia Reading and Sindy Vaughan. Cookies will be delivered at a later date.

Five Acre Purchase Has Stamp Of Approval

"This is a move of great significance to the city," Mayor Robert Lyons noted when voting recently in favor of the purchase of five acres of prime land adjoining north to the present City Center Complex on Chapman Avenue and Kraemer Boulevard.

The purchase of the property at $85,000 an acre, which has brought considerable comment from the public as to its necessity and price, was again approved by the Placentia City Council, this time with a vote of 4 to 1.

Councilman Robert Langer, the lone dissenter, told the council, "I have always had a question on whether we need this property at this time. I'm sure at some time in the future we'll have that need, but I do think we have some higher priorities in the city. I question whether this is really the proper time to purchase this land."

Councilman Jack Gomez disagreed with Councilman Langer. Gomez retaliated: "I remember back when we bought all the land we finally used for park sites. At that time too, we took a strong stand. At that time we were able to acquire park lands adjacent to the schools. The land later may not be available and of course the cost for that land will increase. If you decide later not to use the land, you can always sell it and get your money back."

Previous discussions concerning the five acres, appraised at $425,000 by an independent appraiser, concerned its possible use for a civic auditorium or a cultural center, but its actual use, the city council indicated, would be left to a need dictated by the future development of the city.

Homeowners Sign; Activity To Come

Members of the Placentia Golden Homeowners, in the process of settling their lawsuit with the city of Brea, Moreland Development Company and Union Oil, may again become embroiled in zoning matters within the city of Brea, the organization indicated today.

The homeowners took their case to court when developmental plans for Brea property just north of their $60,000 to $70,000 homes in an 83.5 acre industrial tract were declared unacceptable by the group.

Timothy Burrell, Pomona attorney for the homeowners said Monday that all papers have been signed by the city of Brea, the attorney for Union Oil Company and its subsidiary the Moreland Development Company and by him as agent for the homeowners.

The first settlement, out of court, won everything for the homeowners that they had sought to gain by litigation; mainly that all decisions and stipulations made by the city of Brea in the potential development of the large industrial acreage, become null and void and any future disposition of the property must start again with initial steps up through Brea's structured procedures.

A concession in the agreement is that the homeowners will not contest the change in zoning of property at the corners of Imperial Highway and Kraemer Boulevard and Imperial Highway and Valencia Avenue, which were originally a part of the industrial acreage, but have since been designated as commercial zoning.

Jay A. Gordon, President of Moreland Development Company, owners of the industrial tract, said his firm will be coming back to the city of Brea "within the first six

Handicapped Grant Goes To PUSD

A grant for $33,000 has been awarded to the Placentia Unified School District and Orange Unified School District to prepare a model program for the State Master Plan for Special Education which must be implemented in 1978, district officials learned this week.

Placentia and Orange districts, along with Yorba Linda Elementary, are cooperatively building the $1.2 million orthopedically handicapped facility which will be part of the Tynes Elementary School planned to open in Placentia in 1976.

Advance planning grants of equal value as Placentia-Orange were given by the State Department of Education to six jurisdictions throughout the state: Fresno City Schools, an area in Los Angeles City Schools, Riverside County, Tulare County, Santa Cruz County and the Placentia and Orange districts.

"Our proposal was the only one which is a cooperative effort between two school districts," explained Charles Johannsen, director of special education for the Placentia district. "Between the two districts, we are able to offer a full complement of programs."

"We do have a workable plan, and we have been cooperating for some time to accommodate all students

Bargaining Series Opens

The Placentia Courier this week begins a series of articles authored by California Senator and Minority Floor Leader, George Deukmejian.

The subject of the discourse is the proposal before the State Legislature to grant collective bargaining/right to strike to all 1.2 million public employees including state, county, city, school district and even special districts such as cemetery, lighting, irrigation and fire.

The Courier feels the subject is of sufficient significance to hear all sides of the volatile question and herein presents the first of Senator Deukmejian's articles, welcoming in response letters from readers and comments from all other bonafide sources.

The legislation involved, granting the collective bargaining right to strike franchise is Senate Bill-275. Senator Deukmejian has stated that he personally opposes such a proposal for public employees.

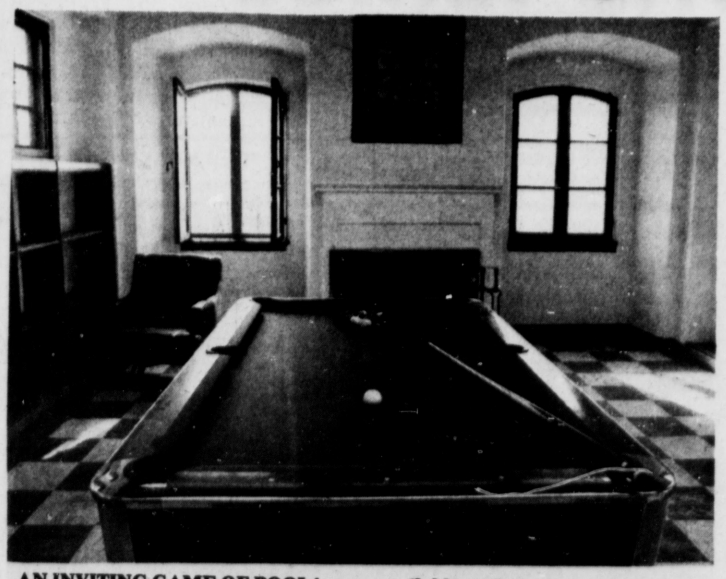
Boy's Club Holds Annual Dinner-Dance

The Placentia Boy's Club Annual Dinner Dance, with dancing to the music of Frank Hernandez Band, will be held Saturday, March 8 at the Placentia Round Table Clubhouse, north of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

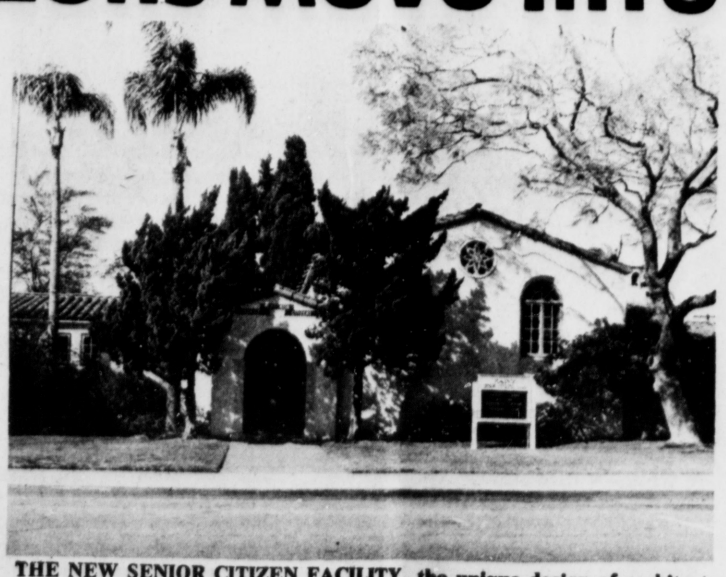
A specialty dinner, prepared by head chef Steve Muro, will be served from 6 to 8 p.m. and dancing will continue from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Donation is $5 per person with the proceeds going to support the Boy's Club programs, the organization reports.

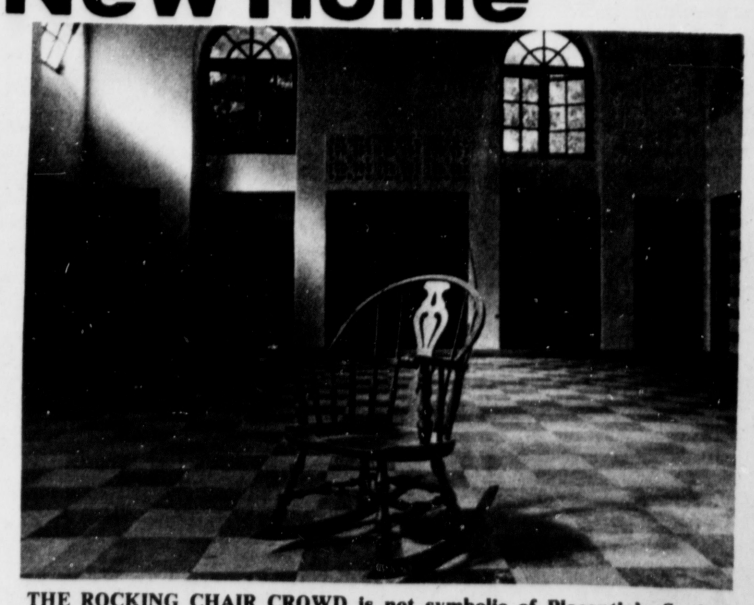
Senior Citizens Move Into New Home



AN INVITING GAME OF POOL is now available to the 440 members of the Placentia Senior Citizen's Club, as they move into their new facility this week. Fashioned from Placentia's unique but outgrown library building at 143 South Bradford Avenue, the facility will be capable of offering a wide range of activities. The center also includes an enclosed green area in back and a patio suitable for a number of outdoor events.



THE NEW SENIOR CITIZEN FACILITY, the unique design of architect Carlton Monroe Winslow, who also planned the Los Angeles Library, was first opened in 1927. The building was recently vacated for the new library building, which is a part of the Civic Center Complex on Chapman Avenue. In an exchange of property, the old library was presented to the people of Placentia by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Backs. The club is open to Placentians 50 years or older and dues are $2 a year.



THE ROCKING CHAIR CROWD is not symbolic of Placentia's Senior Citizen group, which is much more likely to be found on a double decker bus, or the high seas, traveling to some distant and exotic place. The large group enjoys the camaraderie of the Club House and renowned pot luck dinners but also likes to travel a lot. A new kitchen facility has been incorporated into this structure and carpeting is being added throughout the facility.

Community Participates In Center Dedication

DEDICATION OF the L. Jack Gomez Community Center in Atwood was officially commemorated Sunday as the neighborhood gathered for the special ceremonies. Highlight of the afternoon's festivities was the unveiling of the plaque, naming the building. Left to right the dignitaries are Councilman Jack Gomez, for whom the attractive building is named; Mrs. Gomez; Councilman Robert Langer; former mayor and Library President Victor Michel; Ray Rhoads, Assistant to Third District Orange County Supervisor Ralph Diedrich and Councilman George DeJesus.

PARTICIPATING IN the dedication ceremonies Sunday were citizens chosen from the capacity crowd to represent the people "to whom the building belongs." The honorees were Charlene Garcia, who attends Orchard Elementary School; Esther Gonzales, who contributed greatly with her time in securing the community building; her granddaughter in front of her, Risa Gonzales and Victor Herrera, who attends a special school, Nicholas Junior High.

THE PLAQUE designating the Community Center as named for Jack Gomez, who has served in the Placentia City Council longer than any other councilman, was quickly put in place on the front wall of the building, which was built with city and county revenue sharing funds. Assisting with the placement of the plaque are Gerald Sepulveda, Placentia Recreation and Parks Commissioner, who lives in Atwood; Edwin Powell, City Administrator of Placentia; Councilman L. Jack Gomez, for whom the building is named and Edmund Ponce, Placentia City Clerk.

Collective Bargaining...

A Bargain Or boondoggle?

By Senator George Deukmejian
Senate Minority Floor Leader

Today, the Placentia Courier begins a series of articles on the Public Employee Collective bargaining and right-to-strike legislation (SB-275) authored in the California Legislature by Senator Ralph Dills, D-Los Angeles.

Like all other public representatives in Sacramento, I believe that our public employees deserve salary and benefit parity with workers in the private sector. We want them to have adequate salaries and fringe benefits, and we have constantly supported fair and equal compensation to all of our employees.

At the same time, we owe an equal amount of fair and impartial judgement to the taxpayers in the state who must foot the bill for increased benefits or salary adjustments which may be won through collective bargaining.

This series will discuss possible conflict of interest when public employee groups contribute to the campaigns of their employers; what the history has been in prior attempts to get the voters to approve collective bargaining; who has benefited from public employee campaign contributions; whether there is a real need for collective bargaining for public employees; what the bargaining law may mean in increased salaries and benefits for public employees, and who is going to pay for it; and, what the limits of such legislation should be.

COMPLEX PROBLEM

Granting collective bargaining rights to public employees is a much more complex problem than at first it might appear.

For instance, there is the problem of "conflict of interest" between negotiators for the state and the bargaining agents for the public employees.

The State Personnel Board has stated that if collective bargaining is instituted for public employees, it must be with a centralized authority in the Governor's office to be the chief management negotiator producing written agreements.

The Legislature also must determine which areas it will legislate and which will be subject to negotiation.

In both cases, the spector of "conflict of interest" rears its ugly head. The California State Employees Association contributed $14,000 to Governor Brown's 1974 political campaign. The California Teachers Association gave the Governor $25,000. Public employees, in fact, spread more than $1.7 million throughout political campaigns this past year.

Is the public to assume, despite extremely heavy political contributions to legislative and gubernatorial candidacies, that the public can and will receive a fair shake?

Under Proposition 9, voted into law by the people, a lobbyist may not make a campaign contribution to a candidate ostensibly because the public believes that such contributions tend to greatly influence or "corrupt" the officeholder. Yet, with collective bargaining, the employees' representatives will be sitting across the bargaining table from officeholders that they helped to elect with money and manpower.

Some lawmakers have already recognized the power of these public employee organizations, and the fruits of that recognition may be related to the drive to grant collective bargaining.

Homeowners Face Zoning

months of 1975" with plans for the industrial 83.5 acres.

"Our plans are just the same," he reported. "We're going back to the city (Brea). We've already started on our designs."

Settlement of the first fracas forbids that the Moreland Company may secure the identical plans and the same approvals or a penalty would be assessed of "payment of attorneys fees from the beginning of the case up to date," Burrell explained.

The present agreement just signed, also would be binding on any future party that might gain an interest in the acreage, Burrell said.

Gordon further stated that he is unaware of exactly what the new industrial park plans will entail "because the engineers are still working on them." He said that one thing now in process is "beefing up the sound studies."

Zoe Long, first vice president of the Placentia Golden Homeowners Association said the group is "not surprised by Moreland's intent to reapply for subdivision approval for a proposed industrial park."

"We intend to review and analyze all subdivision plans and environmental impact documents submitted with Moreland's new application," she stated.

"If those plans and documents do not conform to Brea s ordinances and the state laws, we will make our disagreement with them known once again," she said positively.

"We have said," she continued, "and we continue to believe that no industrial subdivision can be lawfully approved without adequate mitigation measures being taken in the plans to protect the homeowners from the adverse affects on the environment, including our own living environment, which are expected to be caused by the industrial park.

"We intend to monitor all developments with respect to the industrial park as they occur."

Burrell explained that in the agreement just signed, the Moreland Company abandons the approval of its industrial park, the subdivision and variance and the discretionary approval for the area within 300 feet of the homeowners property, awarded in the Brea Board of Zoning Adjustment hearing.

The homeowners agree not to protest the commercial zoning on the two Imperial Highway corners, however members of the organization can still comment on any precise development overlay and site plan approval.

The disagreement between the Placentia residents and the city of Brea has continued for several months.

"This is a dream come true," Councilman L. Jack Gomez told the capacity crowd that had gathered for the dedication of the L. Jack Gomez Community Center in Atwood.

Recounting the struggles of annexation of the Atwood area to the city of Placentia, Councilman Gomez recalled: "The people of Atwood have been marvelous through all the annexation struggle.

"We made you some promises. We have many other things to do. It takes a long time for some of these things. Don't be impatient. This is just the starter." Gomez encouraged the audience.

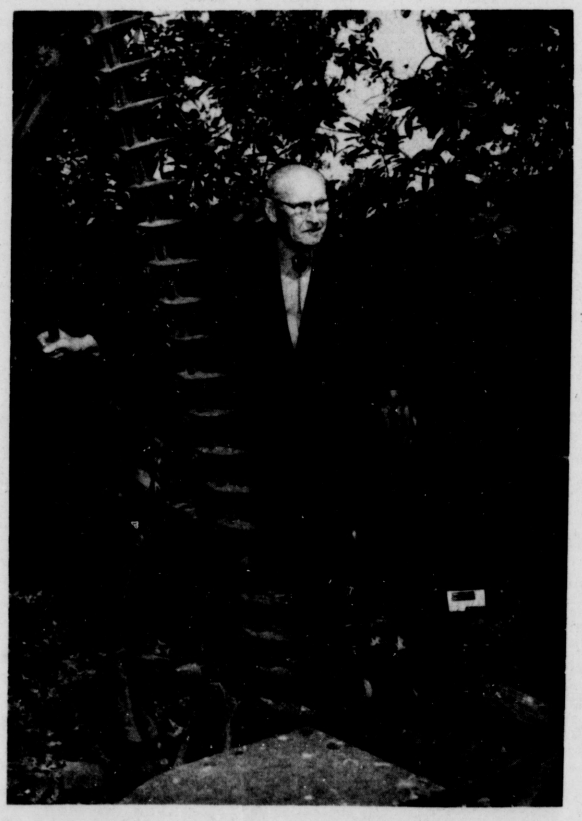
With Master of Ceremonies, Councilman George De Jesus, opening the program, the podium was turned over to Councilman Robert Langer who recalled the time when the city discussed possible annexation with the citizens of Atwood, then in county territory and related the people listed that they needed a place to meet, a park and sewers, street lights, water lines and other street improvements.

The community building, which is now standing and in use, is surrounded by a three acre park with a number of recreational facilities and a swimming pool and rest room buildings are now under construction, he pointed out.

Councilman Langer also recounted that the city council has recently earmarked $392,000 for improvements in the Atwood area for sewers, storm drains and to improve the residential streets.

Councilman Gomez hailed the dedication "as one of the finest moments of my history," recalling that it was a milestone in his life, equal to his being selected mayor of the city in which he was born and had grown up in "dire circumstances."

"I feel honored and I feel humble," Councilman Gomez added.



GEORGE GILMAN KEY rides an ornery contraption, a unique 1912 mowing machine for cutting hay. It is one of the unusual pieces of equipment in his colorful collection of agricultural machinery artifacts and pioneer memorabilia, gathered on his ranch. The homestead in the city of Placentia, will be considered Thursday for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places at a state meeting to be held in Redlands.

The Key Home, which has housed three generations of Keys, was built by the present occupant, George Key's father in 1898 in an era before technology and machines. The three-story white frame structure boasts all hand work in its construction.

The home and grounds also encompass a life-long collection which Key has accumulated, of pioneer equipment, farm machinery and memorabilia of a time past.

Part of the present ranch, which includes some five to six acres is now in escrow to Classic Homes of Garden Grove and will be developed into single family dwellings. The remaining acreage of 2½ acres of orange groves will stay with the house.

Orange County's Historical Commission recently designated the George Key Ranch as its number one priority of properties that should be preserved.

with special needs," he added. When a district cannot provide a specialized program for a handicapped student, arrangements are made with a nearby district for the student.

The planning grant, which will become available in April, will be used to make a total assessment and screening of students in the area who may need special education services, to train all staff members in working with special education students and to develop programs and staffing patterns in compliance with the Master Plan, Johannsen said.

Main emphases of the new Master Plan is to provide individualized programs to fit the needs of all handicapped students, to provide services at the local school level for exceptional children and to integrate special students into as many regular classroom situations as possible to eliminate effects of discrimination.

"If after our year of planning the state accepts our plan as a model for the state, we will receive implementation money also," Johannsen said.

Twenty-nine jurisdictions from throughout the state applied for the advance planning grants.

Bomb Scare At High School

noon Monday, with the first explosion scheduled for 1 p.m., according to the caller, the office reported. Others were scheduled up to 6 p.m. The message was relayed to Placentia at 12:35 noon.

Many of the students left campus not knowing the reason for the early dismissal and some reported at home that "it must be another meeting."

A spokesman for the school district said that calls of such a nature are received with some frequency by various schools, but most have the appearance and earmarks of "crank calls."

This one was given more credence because of its nature and the channels through which it had come.

An additional $51,500 would be allotted to Kraemer Boulevard interconnection with the six intersections of Yorba Linda Boulevard, Morse Avenue, Madison Avenue, Alta Vista Street, Chapman Avenue and Crowther Avenue.

The city application must be processed through the Federal Aid Urban program technical committee; Orange County Board of Supervisors; SCAG, Caltrans and the Federal Highway Administration, Sacramento.

Free Eye Clinics Open Next Week

Free eye testing clinics open to preschoolers through the third grade, will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday, March 11 and 12 in Placentia.

The clinics, specifically to check for amblyopia, a defect in which the eye loses clarity of vision, will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The site of the clinic Tuesday will be the Latin Free Methodist Church, 925 South Melrose Street in the La Jolla neighborhood and Wednesday at the Placentia Round Table Clubhouse on Bradford Avenue.

The clinics will be operated by staff from the Orange County Health Department, which will be checking for all eye disorders, Mrs. Robert Taylor, chairman for the Round Table, which annually sponsors the program, reported.

All examinations are free and youngsters who need attention are referred to their doctors.

Last year 400 children were tested and statistics for 1973 show that 74 per cent of those tested had eye problems and 20 per cent were amblyopia cases, Mrs. Taylor said.

Americanism League Sponsors Slogan Contest

Americanism Educational League's Fifth Annual Patriotic Slogan Contest with cash prizes totalling $1,000, is now underway, according to Walter Knott, League vice-president and honorary chairman of the project. This year the judges are especially interested in slogans with a Bicentennial theme, Knott announced.

The contest is open to all Orange County high school seniors, Knott said. He added that the six winning slogan-writers will receive Scholarship checks for $400, $250, $150, $100, $75 and $25. Ten additional winners will receive citations and merchandise prizes. Deadline for entries is Friday, April 11, with presentation of the winners' checks to be made at 4 p.m., Thursday, May 8, at Independence Hall, Knott's Berry Farm, Buena Park.

William J. Haney of Fullerton is general chairman of the contest. He is president of Kirkhill Rubber Company, Brea, and a Trustee of Americanism Educational League. Edward S. Rankin, executive director of A.E.L., is coordinator of the project, which is co-sponsored by the Freedom Center Volunteers, 16 prominent Orange County women active in the patriotic work of Americanism Educational League.

The 1975 contest judges are Frederick Cantrell, vice president Alpha Beta Markets, La Habra; Don Oliphant, Knott's Berry Farm, Buena Park; Dr. Robert Peterson, Superintendant, County Dept. of Education; Walter Schmid, Rancher, Stanton; and Ann Terrill, Columnist, The Register, Santa Ana.

"Slogans may be serious, inspiring, or humorous," Rankin said; "Winning slogans in previous years have been from 3 to 8 words, and of a positive, constructive nature. A good slogan might stress the benefits of Free Enterprise, individual liberty, limited government or the Early American spirit of rugged self-reliance."

Entry blanks have been sent to all high school Scholarship Counselors, 26 community chambers of commerce and 40 public libraries throughout the Orange County area. They are also available by writing Americanism Educational League at P.O. Box 5986, Buena Park 90620, or phoning 828-5040.

Over 1,000 senior students from 52 public, private, parochial and continuation schools in Orange County entered slogans in last year's contest, Rankin said.

WHAT'S IN STORE

"FOOD FADS FOOL"

This is National Nutrition Week and the American Dietetic Association has chosen this title as the theme for their promotions. It is their concern that people be made aware of some of the fallacies and misconceptions that exist about food. Much money is wasted annually on costly preparations that have not proved to insure such promised results as immediate weight loss or instant vitality and long life.

One of the statements being published by this respected organization is, "People can get all the nutrients they normally need by eating a balanced diet of a wide variety of foods from the supermarket." Dr. Hans Fisher, Chairman of the Department of Nutrition at Rutgers University, also emphasizes, "Housewives who are health-conscious can stretch their shopping dollars by using the supermarket as a health food store."

Here are a few tips to save money and yet have a balanced diet: (1) Use Budget Burger frequently. Nutritionally, it equals ground beef and stretches your protein dollar. (2) Eggs, peanut butter, and poultry are other very inexpensive sources of protein. (3) Buy natural cereals and whole grain breads for maximum cereal nutrition. (4) Non-fat powdered or fresh milk is a best buy for that category of the basic food groups. (5) Fresh, in-season produce, so abundant here in the West, provides one of the least expensive and richest sources of a wide variety of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

All our Alpha Betas have nutritional posters explaining the use of the nutrition labels now found on many food packages. If you would like a brochure telling you how to use these labels, ask your Man in Blue or drop me a note requesting this information.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne
Owner-Reg. Pharmacist

Would it surprise you to learn that perhaps more than 90 percent of the prescriptions filled today could not have been filled only a few decades ago? The fact is that most of today's prescribed drugs were then unknown.

The wonder-drug era beginning in 1935 ushered in a startling and welcome increase in mankind's rather tenuous hold on life. Although the term "Wonder drugs" is sometimes considered an extravagant copy writer's creation, there is no discounting the fact that life expectancy today is a full decade longer than in 1935!

All the wonderful new drugs are here, awaiting your doctor's prescription so ask him to phone LINDA VISTA PHARMACY for our fine professional prescription service. We honor the major credit cards.

HANDY HINT: Try waxing inside of ash trays and the ashes won't stick. You can simply wipe them clean with a tissue...and no washing!

A FAMILY AFFAIR hailed the beginning of Raydra Interiors this past week end as Ray and Peggy Dracoules, Placentia residents opened their brand new furniture-interior decorating store at 3164 East La Palma, Anaheim, in the vicinity of Autonetics, Rockwell International plant. On hand to get things started properly, are Peggy and Ray [seated, center] and their four youngsters, Shawn, 10; Pia, 3; David, 9 and Dennis, 7. Also contributing their efforts are Peggy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McCandless, Los Angeles and Peggy's brother, Paul.

New Firm A Family Affair

It isn't every business that starts with one member playing in the Placentia Bobetts, girls softball league and two others, avid members of Little League, but then Raydra Interiors is no ordinary firm.

The product of the already well established partnership of Ray and Peggy Dracoules, the furniture-interior decorating store, not only is the fulfillment of a dream of Peggy's but provides a second outlet for the family.

Since most members of the family corporation are not only youth oriented, but sports conscious and decidedly under 30, one of the first public acts of Raydra Interiors will be to sponsor a Placentia Bobetts team.

Applauding this business arrangement is the Dracoules' oldest, Shawn, 10, who plays with the group.

With things evenly divided as to boys and girls, sons David, 9 and Dennis, 7, expect to be continuing their budding careers in Placentia Little League teams. Only Pia, 3, will have to wait a bit before she can catch up, a spot she's already eyeing.

The brand new business, which has been in the planning stages for about 18 months will provide a complete interior decorating service to its customers...along with quality furniture and furnishings. Prices will be kept low, Peggy states.

Although the seat of the business is in Anaheim, at 3164 East La Palma Avenue, heart and home are in Placentia, where Peggy and Ray have been busy in a variety of civic work, including efforts to save the Bradford House.

Arrangements have also been made for members of the Placentia Art Association to periodically exhibit their art works at the store.

Library Showcase

New--for the younger set:

"Cricket's Choice" edited by Clifton Fadiman is a medley of old and new works compiled from the pages of the popular magazine for children, "Cricket". These works are by the best children's writers and artists. They run the gamut from serious stories, scary stories, and nonsense stories to plays, puzzles and poems and appeal to children of all ages.

Another just-for-fun book is "The Stronghold", by Mollie Hunter. In it the Scottish author takes the reader back to ancient times, to the homeland of the fierce Picts in Northern Scotland and their battles with the ruthless Roman slave raiders. This book combines history with exciting, imaginative story-telling.

For youngsters interested in acquiring new skills there are many new "how to" books. One, "Ride Your Pony Right", by Frederick Deverux covers horsemanship (English style) from purchase to equitation and jumping in an easy to read format.

These and many more fascinating new books are available in the Yorba Linda library children's department.

Corrie Ten Boom To Speak At CSUF March 11

Corrie ten Boom, author of 11 books including "The Hiding Place" will relate her wartime experiences in the California State University "Little Theater" in Fullerton, Tuesday, March 11, at 12:15 sponsored by the Departments of History and Religious Studies and the Institute of Judaism. Her activities in the Dutch underground and her months in Nazi concentration camps has been filmed by World Wide Pictures in a soon-to-be-released motion picture starring Julie Harris, Eileen Heckart, Arthur O'Connell and Jeannette Clift who stars as the 82-year-old Christian lady.

Corrie ten Boom was born in 1892 into a family of watchmakers. When her formal schooling ended, Corrie took training in the craft of her father and her paternal grandfather, each an excellent maker of watches. She later became Holland's first woman licensed as a watchmaker, and followed that skill until the day of her arrest--February 28, 1944--by the Nazis in occupied Holland.

Corrie's "Crime" was leading a resistance force primarily engaged in hiding Jews and otherwise assisting them in their efforts to escape Nazi persecution. "The true horror of occupation came over us only slowly," says Corrie. "During the first year of German rule there were only minor attacks on Jews in Holland. A rock through the window of a Jewish-owned store. An ugly word scrawled on the wall of a synagogue. It was a testing of the temper of the country. How many Dutchmen would go along with them?..." Corrie exclaims.: "Advanture and anguish, horror and heaven, were just around the corner and we did not know."

Together with her sister, Betsie, Corrie was subsequently imprisoned at Ravensbruck, a German extermination camp. There, during World War II, a total of 96,000 women lost their lives. Betsie died in Ravensbruck, but the Dutch watchmaker was released from prison as the result of a clerk's mistake.

Shortly before her death, Betsie ten Boom told her sister of a dream in which the two of them were to go out into the world to tell the triumphs that could be made over hate, fear, discouragement if one had Christian faith. Corrie, since 1945, has been doing the work of two, traveling the world over, meeting with the greatest variety of persons, sharing her experiences with countless thousands. Her travels began after she had spent considerable time operating in Bloemendael, near Haarlem, Holland, a home--a mansion donated by an aristocratic Dutch woman--for returned victims of the horrible concentration camps.

Known the world over as a colorful, amusing speaker, Corrie ten Boom especially enjoys sharing her experiences and personal mysteries with young collegians across the nation. A witness to sickness, suffering, torture, mass murder, she shares a story of great personal sacrifice and loss to save the lives of people...and love.

BofA Cuts Electrical Useage

Bank of America says it cut electrical consumption in 1974 by 58,000,000 kilowatt hours or the amount of electricity needed to serve 19,400 homes for a whole year.

The bank made the reduction under an energy conservation program, administered and monitored by employees in each of its offices throughout California.

The electrical cutback exceeded the bank's goal by 100 percent.

Under the program, the bank eliminated exterior lighting at more than 1000 community offices in the state, reduced interior lighting and the use of air conditioning units.

The bank said it also used 30,000 fewer gallons of gasoline by observing lower speed limits and minimizing auto travel in 1974.

In all, the energy conserved by Bank of America last year equalled the energy generated by 91,000 barrels of oil.

Tickets may be purchased at the Boy's Club, or at the door.

Muro, a prominent area chef, has arranged similar events which have proven to be extremely successful and entertaining, the group reports.

Although the Boy's Club is not completed, a large number of youths from the greater Placentia-Yorba Linda area have already been attracted to the facility at 132 E. Crowther Avenue on a regular basis.

"The club building opened more than a year ago," Muro said, "and as more of the building is completed more boys participate in the club's activities. Funds raised by the dinner-dance will help provide additional equipment to accommodate these boys."

CSUF Opens New Student Complex

The new student union complex at California State University, Fullerton is 25 per cent completed and will be opened in September 1976. The project cost over five million dollars and incurred a 30-year debt.

The finished product seemed a long way off in 1966 when Cal State, Fullerton students voted on a referendum to collect fees. For the past eight years students have paid ten dollars each semester toward the project. That money combined with a loan from Bank of America enabled construction to get underway last September.

The three-story complex will be a haven for students looking for rest, relaxation or refreshments. The main lobby offers an information center, ticket booth, a small post office and two commercial shops. The main floor contains a social lounge with a fireplace and balcony, a quiet lounge for studying and a music room complete with record collections, private listening booths and headphones.

Also included on the main floor is a student service complex, a multi-purpose room including a projection booth, a little theater, conference rooms and a snack bar.

The student making his way to the lower level will find bowling alleys, a billiard parlor, a table tennis room and a games lounge with a fireplace. There will also be a crafts center, complete with photography lab, where students can work on hobbies or projects. Either a barbershop or an ice cream parlor will complete the lower level.

The student government will operate on the second level of the union along with the student activities office, student organizations, the business and administration offices and the print shop.

The union will offer a variety of other special services, including television viewing rooms and complete banquet facilities.

"I would say we'll have at least 40 new jobs on campus and probably more than that," explained Harvey McKee, University Center Director.

"There will be $60,000 to $70,000 worth of student jobs each year."

Income from revenue producing services, such as bowling, will supplement the semesterly fees in paying for the student union.

"We seem to be benefiting from every aspect of the new union," commented one student. "Are you sure it only costs ten dollars a semester?"

LAKE PARK RIPPLES

By Margaret Rhoads

Lake Park Ripples will be making waves again with a monthly issue. We feel we are too active in our park not to let those outside of our wall hear from us. There may be those who have not heard of Lake Park or know where we are, so I will preface our column with an introduction. We are an adult mobile park community of approximately 600 people. We are situated near the Northwest boundary of Yorba Linda. All coach-owners must be 40 years or older and be a member of Lake Park Club. No one under the age of 18 is permitted to live in the Park and they must be associate members of our club. All social activities are for members and invited guests. Our park is managed by Madge and Leo Bouman, a great couple who come to us from the La Habra area.

The residents represent all walks of life. We have a doctor, dentist, and several nurses. We have engineers in aircraft, aerospace, and construction. We have building contractors, electrical contractors, plumbing contractors, plumbers, electricians, carpenters, butcher, baker and I'll bet if we looked hard enough we could find a candlestick maker. Our baker owns a specialty cake shop and has made wedding cakes for daughters of Bob Hope, Dean Martin and many other celebrities. They were commissioned to make a replica of the Queen Mary for their opening. We also have a commercial pilot and several retired officers of the Armed Service. Then there are those of us who volunteer their time, play a little golf, bowl, play cards, paint or just relax. But we all enjoy our Park and when asked to serve, we do so with pride, perfection and love...so much for tooting our horn...now for the good news and a little bad.

The first activity after we

The first activity after we rang in the New Year, was an all-day party New Year's Day, hosted by the Blacks, Kirgis, Rhoads and Smith. There were about 150 who viewed the bowl games on the three T.V.s. Some played cards and then finished the day with a buffet dinner.

January 9 was the Men's Sunday breakfast, which is always the highlight of the month. John Schenken and Floyd Lakeman took on this duty for 1975 and they started off with a bang. Everything was great. We gals just sat back and let the men do all the work!

January 19 the Men's Golf Group held their mixed tournament, inviting all the women golfers in Lake Park. A beautiful day of golf was played at the new Birch Hills Golf Course, after which all golfers and their spouses returned to our pavilion for a delicious dinner prepared by the non-golfing gals, headed by Anne Goneau. This was the finale for Len Goneau and John Schenken who turned the honors for 1975 over to Dan Duff and Bing Foley.

January 23 forty Lake Parkers boarded a bus for Las Vegas with Russ and Nell Sampson as their hostesses. They came home much quieter than they left, but maybe they were just tired?

The last event of this month was our monthly potluck. Lila Smith and Margaret Rhoads baked roast beef and all the trimmings were furnished by the 130 guests. After dinner we were entertained by the Rooter Tooters, a jazz kitchen band from the Del Este Home Estates. This group brought us songs, dances and lots of rhythm. They were great.

February 1 was our gala President's Ball. On this occasion we honored our retiring board of directors and their chairmen. Digital clock radios were presented to the board and a set of glasses with the Lake Park insignis was presented to the chairmen. The newly elected officers for the year were installed as follows: Joe Hogan will serve at the helm with Bill Klingman as Vice President. Bob Lambert will be treasurer and Bev Hamlin, secretary. Dancing was to the music makers, "The Delights". Thanks to Mary and Gerry Wilkes for this beautiful affair.

February 15 Marge and Lew Kirgis arranged for one of the most delightful evenings, which was enjoyed by 80 of our Lake Parkers and friends. We boarded busses for San Clemente to see the comedy "Under Papas Picture" at the Sabastion West and enjoyed a fine dinner.

The lady golfers of Lake Park started their new year with a round of golf and a luncheon at Birch Hills Golf Course. Terry Brown will serve as chairman for 1975, Lila Smith tournament chairman and Astrid Vick handicap chairman.

The hidden talent in our Park is overwhelming. After our February potluck which was chaired by the Jack Calls and Bob Lamberts, our own Lake Park manager, Leo Bouman, surprised us with a medley of songs--and what a voice! He was accompanied by his daughter, Donna. It seems this is nothing new for Leo and Donna and you can be sure it will not be the last now that the secret is out.

All isn't fun and frolic, we do have some bad news. Our neighbor and friend Rex Hastings, who serves on the Yorba Linda water commission is seriously ill. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Troy Warriors Clip Spartans

By Mark Tronske

The Troy High Warriors proved that their 11-3 Freeway League record was no fluke as they clipped the Sierra Spartans, 64-60 in C.I.F. playoff action last Friday night.

During the first period of play the visiting Warriors did not look sharp, as the Spartans were playing a more cohesive brand of team basketball. Dave Lentine was setting the pace for the Spartans as he hit four out of five shots, scoring 10 of Sierra's first quarter points. The Spartans hit 80 per cent of their shots in the initial stanza. The only Warrior who could produce any points was center Chris Parker who popped in 10 points. The scoreboard showed Sierra ahead 25-18 after the first segment was completed.

As the second period opened, Troy became more aggressive. The Warriors bucketed 14 of the first 20 points and put themselves in the lead 32-31 with barely three minutes left. Troy guard Tom Omalev sunk four field goals and two charity tosses to guide the Warrior offense. Sierra's center, Steve McGuire supported the Spartan scoring. The score at halftime was: Troy--38, Sierra--37.

Sierra came out fighting in the third stanza, not wanting the Warriors to run away with the ball game. The Spartans seemed annoyed with the fact that the Warriors were beating them in front of their home town fans. Troy seemed to be enjoying every minute of the lead, even though it only was two or three points. But then, the Spartans put together a string of points, as they were cheered on by the partisan Sierra crowd. Troy coach, Bill Morris then inserted back-up center Stan Carmichael to give Chris Parker a much needed rest. Carmichael quickly went to work on offense as he was a perfect three for three from the floor. The Warrior defense came back to life too, as Troy started to cut-off the Spartans' running game. The period ended with Troy out in front 54-47.

Play started to get a little rough in the final stanza. Both teams had chances to score easy baskets but neither side put the ball in the hoop to take advantage of their opportunities. As the minutes evaporated from the scoreboard clock, the game was becoming a tug-o-war match. With but 1:30 left in the contest the Warriors still were ahead, 60-54.

Within the next 45 seconds the Spartans netted two hoops to narrow Troy's lead to a meager four points. One of the buckets was scored because of goal tending by the Warriors' center Chris Parker. But the Spartans blew a chance to regain the ball when Troy's Dan Erickson had it knocked away from him. As the Warriors performed a magic act gaining possession of the basketball, Sierra seemed stunned in disbelief. The Warriors continued their magic touch as they bucketed four consecutive points on flying fast-breaks. The game was all but over, as only seconds remained in match, the Spartans tallied one more time to make the final score read: Troy--64, Sierra--60.

Top scorers in the game were: Chris Parker (20), Dan Erickson (14)--both for Troy; and Dave Lentine (20), Steve McGuire (17)--both for Sierra.

MIKE OBERLE of STOP gets ball past Mexican defenders to score in International Age Group water polo match at Fullerton College, when the two groups met in play.

STOP Stops Polo Team

An International Age Group water polo match was played by the Swim Team of Placentia and Mexican National Team at the Fullerton Junior College pool on Friday.

The Mexican National Team is on tour in preparation to playing in the 1975 Pan American Games.

Water polo season was completed in Southern California mid-November, however, STOP proved they could still come through with a winning team by defeating the Mexican National Team with a final score of 12 to 9.

At the end of the 1st quarter the score was tied and the Mexicans led at half time. The score was tied again at the end of the 3rd quarter but STOP, coached by Walter Druff, moved ahead to win the game.

The scoring showed: 1st quarter--Mexico 3, STOP 3. Second quarter: Mexico 3, STOP 1; 3rd quarter: Mexico 2, STOP 4; 4th quarter Mexico 1, STOP 4. Final score: Mexico--9, STOP--12.

Scorers were: Alan Gresham 5; Grant Jeffries 5; Mike Oberle 2.

Playing on the STOP team were: David Donaldson, Rick Garland, Gresham, Jeffries, Paul Joslin, Alan Laidlaw, Kevin Laidlaw, Jeff Mitchell, Oberle, Karl Reiter (goalie), and Steve White.

Hawks Up One In Tee Off

By Phil Krikorian

Although the El Dorado Golden Hawks' Varsity Golf team teed off the 1975 season with a loss to San Clemente, they came back strong to defeat Savanna, 54-0.

In the match against San Clemente, at ED's home course, Western Hills, Tony Piraino was low for the Hawks with 74, but San Clemente's low score was 69. Even though the Hawks lost, they still have a one win-no loss record, because San Clemente is not in the same league as El Dorado. El Dorado is in Orange League.

Against Savanna, at Western Hills Country Club, Tim Shinkle was low golfer for the Hawks with a blistering 73, Savanna's low golfer carded an 87.

El Dorado's varsity golf coach, Carl Sweet anticipates that ED will most likely have a prosperous golf season this year, and possibly for the coming two years.

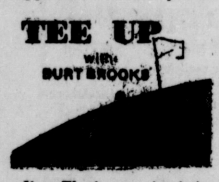
The Hawks Junior Varsity golf team has compiled two wins this season: One against the Valencia Tigers at Alta Vista Country Club, by a score of 33-3. Their other win came against the Brea-Olinda Wildcats at Western Hills, 34--2. Coaching the JV team this year will be Iran Novick. Novick has finished coaching the JV Basketball team at El Dorado.

Last year's varsity team also lost their first match of the season, and then went on to go undefeated in league play. To equal the record that last year's team compiled, this season's golf team will have to win all of their remaining matches.

There are 15 matches left on this year's schedule, not including league finals.

VISITORS FOR HYDES

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hyde from Lake Park in Yorba Linda have been entertaining daughter Joyce, son-in-law Ted and granddaughter Marci Albee from Michigan. The Albee family visited during the holidays.



Jim Thwing arrived in Yorba Linda on March 4 last year from Incline Village Country Club at Lake Tahoe, and began to serve as assistant golf professional to Jim Welker, head pro at the club.

Things have really happened during this short year as Jim Welker has now left for Meadowlark golf course at Seal Beach, taking with him a very fine and promising pro golfer by the name of Bobby Clark, who has been serving at Yorba Linda Country Club with Jim Thwing.

Jim married Flossie, the office secretary at the club, and will soon be a "new" papa, and as of last Saturday, March 1, Thwing assumed duties as head golf professional. It appears that he is a man who knows what he wants, and goes out to get it. Good luck, Jim.

Lee Oudshoorn has been chosen as assistant to Pro Thwing at the local club, and the members are very happy about this event, because Lee is well known to the membership, and liked by all who know him. He has served as Handicap chairman for many months and also has acted as assistant club manager on days when Manager Jack Henry saw fit to be away from the club.

Ed Bryson teamed with Bob Vairin to win the Partner's Best-Ball event at Yorba Linda Country Club and bragged to his wife what a hot-shot golfer he was. Mrs. Byrson didn't enjoy this chatter from Ed, so took him on for a golf match the following day (Sunday) and proceeded to hole her tee shot on the hole 7 for a hole in one. As of last Sunday the card had not been turned in to the pro shop for validation, and without the pro's attested card, it is just another golf shot.

Seniors will start hitting their best shots at Yorba Linda Country Club next Saturday and will complete the Seniors event on Saturday, March 15. All golfers who have attained 50 years of age are invited to participate, and should sign in the pro shop at once

Hawks Blaze Victory Trail

By Brian Hilderbrand

Despite the loss of their valuable guard, Bob Farra, the El Dorado Golden Hawks have vaulted to the CIF Quarterfinals against El Toro, after winning both the preliminary and the second round games last week.

The Hawks had to beat the Rowland Raiders Tuesday night, and in the process, scored their highest game of the season, 103-72, in the Hawks' gym.

Kevin Heenan, candidate for ALL-CIF guard for the second year, tied his season game-high by scoring an incredible 39 points to lead the CIF AA defending Champs into the second round of the CIF playoffs.

At the end of the first quarter, the Hawks held only a small, 24-20 lead, after ED had hit 11 of 22 shots from the floor to pace what was a fantastic scoring game for El Dorado.

The Hawks came back in the second period and hit 11 of 20 shots to take a 48-41 lead at the half. Heenan already had 26 of his total points in the first half.

In the third period, ED hit 11 of 18 from the floor, behind the marksmanship of junior, Blake Withers, who pumped in 11 of the Hawks 24 points that period.

The score at the end of the third period was 72-51, and the rest of the game was a chance for the ED bench to get a little CIF experience.

El Dorado hit 11 of their 17 shots in the last period, to wrap the game up with a 31-point lead.

Ernie Morales, 5-8 crowd-pleaser, put the Hawks 100, and 101st points on a pair of free-throws. Morales scored 8 points in a little over two minutes of play.

The Raiders were forced to turnover the ball 30 times during the game, caused by the Hawks' powerful press and Tyrone Branyan who had a number of important steals.

High scorer for the hawks was Kevin Heenan, with 39 points. Blake Withers added 28, and both Branyan and Morales put in 8 points.

El Dorado met Hemet in the second round game, and again the Hawks drew the home-court advantage, as the Hawks blasted the Bulldogs, 92-50.

ED jumped to a 10-0 lead at the start, with Heenan hitting four of six shots, and took a 28-12 lead at the end of the first period.

With only two minutes gone in the second period, the Hawks built up a 20-point lead, 36-16, and at the end of the half, they controlled a 59-25 lead.

Coming back from the half, ED Coach, Nash Rivera did not start his first team, but split up the five and played three different teams.

Leading scores for the Hawks were Kevin Heenan with 22 points, Tyrone Branyan with 13, and Blake Withers with 17 points.

The Hawks were 36 for 62 off the floor, and 20 for 23 from the line. Hemet was 24 for 69 off the floor, and 2 for 12 off the line.

Leading the Bulldogs in scoring was Dave Anady with 17, John Phillips with 14, and Mike Bateman with 6 points.

Last week the Orange League Player of the Year was announced, and Kevin Heenan of the El Dorado Golden Hawks was given that title. Heenan, along with teammate Tyrone Branyan, was elected to the OL First Team. Mike Sedan, El Dorado's reserve center, was named to the OL Second Team.

El Dorado jaunted to El Toro to play the Quarterfinal game with El Toro, who won their second round game, 70-66, over Santa Clara.

El Dorado is now 7-0 in CIF play, including the five games they won last year to take the CIF AA Crown.

KATIE'S COLUMN or DOWN ON THE FARM by Kay Starr

How many of you heard all that ruckus on Thursday? It wasn't anything alarming, just me. I finally turned in my senior project paper completing the Home Economics requirements which means that in June I get a college diploma. Hurray, yippee, etc.

Dog owners and lovers will appreciate hearing that I have the smartest dog in Yorba Linda. Maybe he can't add or multiply or that kind of thing, but he's smart alright. For instance today at the farm a group of youngsters from the Montessori School on Marda came by on a field trip. "Snoopy" thinks that children were made just for him. He loves everyone, especially after he knocks them to the ground and can easily lick them. Just to get them a little more excited he brought me a stick. Soon he had about 15 sticks to choose from, and dashed for one then another, then another, and so on. Isn't that a smart dog to figure out how to get the children to play with him?

We haven't seen any rabbits at the farm lately. The hawks have been gliding about. A few smaller birds flittering around. Maybe the cats did their job and scared away all the rabbits. I really should be more appreciative of the rabbits after all, this is the Year of the Enchanged Hare according to the Chinese Calendar. Actually I think it should be called the "Year of the Blasted Fly", based on the number of the little devils I have had to swat lately. The count for the first 45 days of the new year has averaged one a day at least.

It is upsetting when someone confronts you with a problem for which they expect you to expertly give an answer and you can't do it. Mrs. Kubeck, in telling me about her travels, asked about a particular tree that is yellow in color but still a pine tree. She had already told her friends that I would be able to give her the name of the tree, and there I stood, unable to do. What a terrible let-down. I have the answer now. The tree is the Western Larch. It grows from British Columbia south to the Rocky Mountain region. The needles turn yellow and drop every fall even though it is classified as a conifer. My information comes from "Trees", published by the American Forestry Association.

The potluck dinner was provided by the mothers of the Cubs. The entertainment was provided by the Happy Whistlers, and The Magician, Leonard Allen. Plans for the annual Pinewood Derby were discussed by the Marshall, John Long and each boy was given his own Pinewood Derby kit to work on by the Derby ~~March 21~~.

Golden Carnival

Golden PTA will hold its annual Carnival on Saturday, March 8, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Mothers, fill your bowls full of water, the group warned, because the Gold Fish Booth will be among the many favorites to return. The Space Walk will be back as will the Big Wheel Races and the Maze. The Fire Engine from Me 'n Ed's will be giving rides from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Placentia's home town favorite, Lance Erickson, will be performing his magic show hourly throughout the day.

Joyce Sherman will be there selling personalized cupcakes.

Viola Ferriera and her crew will be in the kitchen making hot dogs and chili, and just for munching there will be popcorn, snow-cones punch and cakes of all kinds.

Bonnie Steele is in charge of the Old-Fashioned Country Store where you might be able to find all of those items you thought you'd never see again.

There will be lots of games and prizes. But best of all inflation has not yet reached Golden's Carnival, tickets will still cost 5 cents and 10 cents.

Mrs. Galente Honored at Tuffee

Irene Galente has been awarded an Honorary Service Award by Tuffree PTA. The presentation was made by chairman Nancy Kennedy at a recent meeting in the school's auditorium.

Cited was Mrs. Galente's involvement in both Wagner Elementary and Tuffree Junior High School PTA's starting when Mrs. Galente's children first entered school.

Special attention was directed to her "readiness to tackle behind the scenes tasks and for serving as treasurer for Tuffree the past two years."

"When the person elected treasurer for the current year moved away, Mrs. Galente was asked to fill the vacancy and did so, although she has no children at Tuffree this year," the chairman reported.

IN MEMORY OF HIS DAD--Steve Mendell [right] participates in the ceremonies at Sierra Vista Elementary School, in honor of his late father, Duane Mendell, who was principal of the school before his death last year. The ceremonies dedicated the school's library to the former principal. Also participating were [left to right], Suzanne Elmassian, school librarian; John Tynes, Superintendent of the Placentia Unified School District, Mendell and Arlene Gunzik, librarian. Heritage Days Eyes Dates

Possibility that Placentia's annual Heritage Festival Days will emphasize the nation's country-wide Bicentennial celebration in 1975 and 1976 will be considered when the board of directors meets Thursday, March 6 in their monthly meeting at Koch Park.

The 1976 celebration also will include the commemoration of Placentia's 50th birthday, an event that year.

Ed Houston, newly elected president of the Placentia Heritage Festival Days board of directors said that discussion concerning a tentative date for the 1975 event is centering around October 4 through 11, but no official action has been taken by the full board on the time.

Also contemplated in a workshop meeting was the possibility of incorporating some type of ride activity in the 1975 festival, as an added attraction and a source of funding. However, no action as yet has been taken on this possibility. Also the group must present its budget before the Placentia City Council before April. The city for the past two years has supplied some funding for the big annual celebration.

Further to be discussed at Thursday night's meeting, Houston reported, will be the possibility of heavier Heritage activity on the two encompassed week ends, with fewer, but larger events during the week.

Week day activities have suffered somewhat in attendance because of inclement weather and because they were staged on school nights and out of doors. The effort this year may be to consolidate into one or two, more widely attended week-time events, Houston contemplated.

Walter Gabel Reelected

Officers of the Placentia Senior Citizens Club for 1975 are Walter Gabel reelected President; Sue Miller, First Vice President and Shirley Cummins, Second Vice President.

Also Willie Yoder, Secretary; Nan Hertz-Steiner, Treasurer and Ione Aldrich, Tour Chairman.

SUMMARY OF LEASE AGREEMENT
BETWEEN PLACENTIA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT AND
CITY OF ANAHEIM

1. LESSOR does hereby devise, lease and let to LESSEE, and LESSEE hires from LESSOR, for the purpose of developing and maintaining a public park and playground, those certain premises containing approximately 7.85 acres, situated in the City of Anaheim, County of Orange, State of California, and more particularly illustrated as follows, to wit; see attached area map marked "Exhibit A".

2. The term of this lease shall be twenty-five (25) years commencing on April, 1975, with the privilege and option in LESSEE to renew and extend the term for an additional twenty-five years as hereinafter provided.

3. As consideration for the execution of this lease, LESSEE agrees as follows:

(a) To construct, develop, maintain and supervise over the term hereof, a public park and playground on the subject property.

(b) To install, within one (1) year from the date hereof, an appropriate sprinkling system, lawns, trees and basic shrubs.

(c) To prepare and submit to the LESSOR general plans for proposed improvements prior to the construction or installation thereof to be jointly approved by the LESSOR and LESSEE.

(d) All improvements other than lawns, trees and basic shrubs shall be made or installed as indicated on the general plans approved by the parties hereto with reasonable diligence.

(e) To allow LESSOR the full use of said park and playground facilities for general playground and educational purposes during school hours.

4. It is further understood and agreed that LESSEE shall have, and is hereby given and granted, an option to renew this lease for an additional twenty-five (25) years in consideration for continuing to maintain during said time, said park as a public park and playground and allowing the use thereof by LESSOR as above set forth.

5. Notwithstanding any other terms or provisions herein, the LESSOR hereby reserves the right to terminate this lease whenever it becomes necessary to use the land hereinabove described for more necessary school purposes. from herbie's corner

By Jack Scarpa

Election day is over and school board candidates have the pressure off. Regardless of the outcome, each candidate must be vastly relieved at being free from the pressures of seeking elective office.

As for me, I feel a deepening sense of appreciation toward each of the candidates who sought to represent us in the heavy responsibilities of governing this school district. Individually and collectively they represent the finest of our citizenry.

Dedicated, concerned, and committed enough to leave their firesides to seek to use their intelligence, their efforts, and their time to benefit our children makes them the very finest of citizens. You candidates deserve the gratitude of your community whether you lost or you won. By running the race, you have added your ideas, views, and thoughts, and who knows what may result from that input.

Our warmest congratulations go to the winners. Hopefully, you winners will act like winners by really listening to your constituents and fully considering their views in carrying out your responsibilities.

Voter Apathy

One thing all candidates will express regret at is the expected poor turnout of the voters. It is too bad. Part of the reason, seems to me, must be laid directly at the door of pompous and arrogant elected officials who quickly forget that it was the votes of citizens who gained them their elected posts.

Once a tactless, elected official said to a citizen, "After all, I represent several thousand other voters beside you." In a word, Mr. Citizen, your views don't count for much. These are the kind of thoughtless and arrogant remarks that will cause either voter apathy or the formation of a citizens' group to find out just who this official feels he does owe an explanation to.

Solution

We should follow the example offered by the candidates in Tuesday's election. They did something. Not all of us have the desire for elected office, but all of us want our children to receive quality education and our cities to be governed honestly and with justice.

There is only one way to attain these goals; speak up for your views today. Attend school board meetings, planning commission and city council meetings. Make it a rule to never leave those meetings frustrated. Collar an official and make him aware of your feelings. Write or telephone him. Write letters to the "Letters to the Editor" section. It's the most interesting part of any paper. Join Citizen groups.

Now, no one of us can do all of these things, but we can become knowledgeable in one of the fields. So why don't you do it? Get your wife, husband, or a neighbor to join you, and make your interest known. Don't expect overnight miracles, but be persistent. You are important and so are your views.

Act

"All the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than one single good action," according to James Lowell.

Elks Need Members

Interest in the formation of an Elks Lodge to serve the Placentia-Yorba Linda area has been "very encouraging," reported Robert E. Davis, chairman of the formation committee.

The first public meeting held last week was attended by more than 60 residents. Almost 35 percent of those in attendance signed up to join the new lodge, Davis said.

An initial membership of at least 100 is required before the grand lodge recognizes and formally approves the formation of the local lodge, however.

Davis noted that many Elks now living in this area are not affiliated with any Elks Lodge, and it is estimated there are at least 500 more who would be interested in becoming an Elk.

CITIZEN PARTICIPATION was the principal means of communication for the Placentia Unified School District building bonds, on the ballot Tuesday. Citizens worked to inform other residents of the issues involved in the important measure. Some of the members contributing their own time to the effort above are [left to right] Al Barlow, co-chairman of the Citizens School Bond Committee [with Dr. Ralph Ruth, not shown]; Lucy Grismer, telephone chairman; Marya Kolafa, Glenknoll area chairman; Guy Ehrich, publications chairman and Tom Blinn, Elementary attendance area chairman. Many area residents gave of their spare time in an effort to pass the bonds.

CDF--It's More Than Fighting Fires

Not very many Californians know it but California Division of Forestry (CDF) personnel do more than fight forest fires.

In fact, in many counties they also put out building fires, grass fires, all kinds of fires - in addition to the old-fashioned forest fire.

In many cities, where they provide fire protection, they, of course, never see a forest fire but handle just about every other kind. In Santa Monica, for example, they are the firemen for the Orange County airport, one of the busiest in the country.

So it shouldn't come as a surprise that a new training handbook just for structural fires has been issued by CDF to all units that furnish such fire protection in the state.

The new handbook covers such subjects as the use of ladders, breathing apparatus, portable fire extinguishers, ropes, knots, and salvage procedures to be followed after a fire.

Before the year is out, additional sections will be added about fire-hose practices, resuscitators, pumps, rescue, forcible entry, and ventilation.

CDF is a division of the Department of Conservation. The organization has some 2,800 full-time personnel. During the summer an additional 3,000 seasonal firefighters are hired.
